TRADITIONAL ESTATE SALES

A traditional estate sale is an in-person event held at the home where items are displayed and sold directly to buyers. This format allows for a hands-on experience, with buyers able to physically inspect items and potentially negotiate prices. While it offers a community feel and immediate gratification, it's limited to local buyers and can be time-consuming for both buyers and sellers.

ONLINE ESTATE SALES

An online estate sale is conducted entirely online, with items listed on a website or platform. Buyers can browse through detailed descriptions and photos, and place bids within a set timeframe. This format offers convenience for buyers, allowing them to participate from anywhere with internet access. However, it lacks the physical inspection aspect, and buyers may need to consider additional costs and delays.
